ABOUT ME

As a fresh graduate in Front-End Development, I bring a robust understanding of core web technologies including HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. My proficiency extends to crafting responsive designs and leveraging contemporary frameworks like React and Next.js to create compelling web applications. With a talent for transforming ideas into functional and aesthetically pleasing user interfaces, I am enthusiastic about applying my academic insights to real-world projects. I am keen to collaborate with teams to produce captivating user experiences and am eager to infuse innovative concepts into my work. I am prepared to join a dynamic workplace where I can both contribute and grow by absorbing wisdom from seasoned professionals.
